WILLIAM G. STIEBER, PH.D

Imagine a work environment that has a distinct melody (leadership direction and customer focus), balanced harmony (effective teamwork) and a strong rhythm (the beat of continuous improvement and change). This is a work environment where employees are engaged in what they do and see a clear connection between what they do and the success of the organization in fulfilling its purpose. That is where total system development is important. That is what Bill Stieber supports.

From the platform as a key note speaker to the conference room as a facilitator of teams or workgroups, Bill has worked with all levels of leadership from CEO's to supervisors. Bill also works one-on-one with business leaders as a coach or teams as a consultant to reinforce concepts to ensure sustainability.

Bill has provided an array of training, coaching and consulting services to variety of audiences from Manufacturing, Healthcare, Financial Services, Consulting and Information Technology to federal, state and local government groups.

His presentations have been held in many countries including Argentina, Belgium, Canada, Germany, Kuwait, Mexico, Pakistan, Singapore and the United Kingdom. In 2007, Bill will be conducting Six Sigma sessions in the Ukraine.
